Over the past few weeks, I've been sharing AI prompts for generating images here, and honestly, I didn't expect the kind of response I got.

People didn't just read them they started using them, experimenting with them, and coming back asking for more. That's when I realized something... this space is still wide open, and people are genuinely curious about creating better visuals with AI.

One request kept showing up again and again:
“Do you have something for cinematic portraits?”

At first, I thought it would be just another prompt. But the more I worked on it, the more I realized cinematic portraits are a completely different challenge. It's not just about making an image look good it's about making it feel like a moment from a film.

So I decided to take my time and build something more intentional. Not just a prompt, but a structured way to turn simple photos into something that feels deeper, more emotional, and visually cinematic.

This is what I came up with.

Result I got 🙋

I know you're probably excited to try this after seeing these images.

And honestly, I don't blame you they look incredible.

So let's not waste any time. Here's the prompt:

You are an award-winning cinematic portrait photograph

Your task is to transform the provided input image int

How to Use This Prompt

If you want to try this prompt yourself, here's the easiest way to use it:

Step 1: Copy the full prompt.

Step 2: Replace the placeholders with the look and mood you want.

Here's one example:

Scene Type: urban night street

Mood/Emotion: melancholic, introspective

Lighting Style: neon reflections, wet street glow, soft rim lighting

Color Grade: teal & orange cinematic with deep shadows

Wardrobe Style: transparent raincoat over dark clothing

Environment Details: rain, wet pavement reflections, blurred neon signs, light fog

Camera Style: 85mm portrait lens, shallow depth of field

Time of Day: night

Step 3: Choose your AI model.

I'm using Nano Banana for my generations.

Step 4: Upload your image.

Step 5: Paste the prompt, hit enter, and generate your result.

Once you get the output, you can keep experimenting with different settings to create new cinematic variations.

The neon rain city image is great! Very Blade Runner. I can't wait to try it with one of my portraits. I wonder if Chat GPT will do a similar job or whether NanoBanana is the only way to go. Thanks for the article!
